

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A header structure of a packet, which is transferred to a mobile terminal through a packet communication network that includes a plurality of routers inclusive of communication routers
5 configured to communicate with mobile terminals through radio, includes information about conditions of destination mobile terminals for which the packet is destined. This information serves as indication
10 of destination.

00748258-122700